

‘Inter Zonal Display Your Talent - 2025’ commenced at JU

Jammu, Dec 16: ‘Inter-Zonal Display Your Talent 2025’ commenced today at the University of Jammu which is an annual feature of the Department of Students Welfare, University of Jammu. In this event students from the affiliated degree colleges and university departments participate in 24 different competitions viz music, dance, literary, fine-arts and theatrical activities. Prof. Neelu Rohmetra, Dean Research Studies, University of Jammu was the Chief Guest of the inaugural function and Dr. Neeraj Sharma, Registrar was the Guest of Honour on the occasion. Prof. Monika Chadha, Chairperson CCC, Prof. Sarika Manhas, Co-Chairperson CCC and other senior functionaries of the university also attended the programme which started with the lighting of traditional lamp by the dignitaries.

This new format of Display Your Talent has been envisioned by Prof. Umesh Rai, Vice Chancellor, University of Jammu which has witnessed a larger participation of the students from the far-flung areas. All the affiliated colleges from Jammu province have been distributed into 5 Zones; Tawi Zone, Pir- Panjal Zone, Devika Zone, Ravi Zone and Chenab Zone where Zonal Level Display Your Talent competitions were organized and the winners of those competitions are now competing in Inter Zonal Level.

Speaking on the occasion, Prof. Neelu Rohmetra, Dean Research Studies, University of Jammu, welcomed the participating students on behalf of the Hon’ble Vice-Chancellor Prof. Umesh Rai and described Display Your Talent as one of the University’s most enduring cultural traditions. Tracing its origins to the vision of former Vice-Chancellor Prof. M.R. Puri, she noted that the event has evolved over the years and, under the present leadership, has been decentralized to reach students across campuses and zones, culminating in a central-level finale. She emphasized that the initiative reflects the University’s commitment to taking cultural activities closer to students and nurturing talent across regions.

Prof. Rohmetra underlined that Display Your Talent goes beyond competition and marks to promote holistic education, cultural heritage, and life skills essential for balanced personalities. She observed that universities are spaces not only for academic learning but also for personal growth, confidence-building, and creative expression through culture, sports, and the arts. Such platforms, she said, help students de-stress, rediscover focus, and return to their academic pursuits with renewed energy and purpose.

Welcoming the visiting students from Shivaji University, Kolhapur, Prof. Rohmetra highlighted the significance of cultural exchange in celebrating India’s unity in diversity. She remarked that each region brings its own unique cultural expression, and such interactions strengthen mutual understanding and national integration. She also acknowledged the efforts of the Department of Students Welfare, technical staff, faculty members, judges, organisers, and student participants, urging students to come forward with confidence, participate wholeheartedly, and cherish these experiences as an integral part of university life.

To encourage the participating students, Dr. Neeraj Sharma, who himself is a promoter of arts, presented a guest performance of singing.

Welcoming the gathering, Prof. Prakash Chand Antahal, Dean Students Welfare, University of Jammu, described the inauguration of the four-day Youth Display Your Talent programme as a moment of pride for the University. He extended a warm welcome to the Chief Guest, Prof. Neelu Rohmetra, Dean Research Studies, and expressed gratitude for her presence despite prior commitments. Prof. Antahal also welcomed the Guest of Honour, Dr. Neeraj Sharma, and acknowledged the continued support of Prof. Monika Chadha, Chairperson, and Prof. Sarika Manhas, Co-Chairperson, Campus Cultural Committee. He appreciated the dedicated efforts of the Campus Cultural Committee in successfully implementing the programme in its revised format, involving zonal-level competitions across five zones, followed by the inter-zonal finals at the University. He also expressed gratitude towards Prof. Arvind Jasrotia, Rector Kathua Campus, Prof. Yash Pal Sharma, Rector Udhampur Campus, Dr. Ravender Tickoo, Principal GCW Parade and Dr. Z.A. Mirza, Principal GPGC, Rajouri for successfully conducting Zonal Level DYT in their respective institutions.

Prof. Antahal highlighted that the restructured format was introduced to ensure wider participation, especially from students in remote and far-flung areas, and noted that its success is reflected in the University's achievements at the national level in recent years. He underlined that while awards are limited, every participating student is a winner, as such platforms help build confidence, creativity, and stage presence. Extending his best wishes to all participants, including the visiting students from Shivaji University, Kolhapur, he encouraged students to embrace the experience, learn from it, and continue to excel in the years ahead.

Addressing the gathering, Prof. Monika Chadha, Chairperson, Campus Cultural Committee, University of Jammu, described Display Your Talent 2025 as one of the University's most cherished cultural traditions and a celebration of creativity that has evolved with time. She noted that since its inception in 1983, the festival has grown into a major platform for artistic expression in music, dance, theatre, fine arts, and literary activities. Highlighting the University's expansion across 164 affiliated colleges, multiple campuses, and diverse regions, she explained that the introduction of the zonal format from 2024, under the guidance of Hon'ble Vice-Chancellor Prof. Umesh Rai, has significantly widened participation, especially for students from far-flung areas. Prof. Chadha elaborated that the five-zone structure has strengthened inclusion, showcased sub-regional cultural identities of Jammu, and transformed the festival into a journey of representation and cultural revival. She also informed that this year's programme has been enriched with a cultural exchange initiative featuring a visiting team from Shivaji University, Kolhapur, and the inclusion of adjudicators from outside the Union Territory to provide students with wider exposure and professional insights. Expressing gratitude to campus heads, faculty members, organisers, and student volunteers, she encouraged participants to perform with confidence and creativity, underscoring that their art plays a vital role in preserving and celebrating the region's rich cultural heritage.

The formal vote of thanks was delivered by prof Sarika Sharma.

A further selected team amongst the winner of this event would represent the University of Jammu in 39th Inter University North Zone Youth Festival being hosted by Chitkara University, Chandigarh.

The new format of Display Your Talent has been envisioned by Prof. Umesh Rai, Vice Chancellor, University of Jammu which has witnessed a larger participation of the students from the far-flung areas. All the affiliated colleges from Jammu province were distributed into 5 Zones; Tawi Zone, Pir-Panjal Zone, Devika Zone, Ravi Zone and Chenab Zone where Zonal Level Display Your Talent competitions were organized and the winners of those competitions are now competing in Inter Zonal Level.

Addressing the gathering, the Chief Guest Shri Ramesh Kumar, IAS, Divisional Commissioner, Jammu, congratulated the University of Jammu on the successful conduct of the Inter Zonal Display Your Talent Programme and extended his felicitations to the winners. He observed that educational institutions play a decisive role in shaping individuals beyond academics, serving as spaces where values, ethics, personality, and hidden potential are discovered and nurtured. Appreciating the university's efforts, he noted that platforms such as Display Your Talent allow students to move beyond academic routine and engage meaningfully with music, fine arts, painting, and other creative pursuits that contribute significantly to holistic development.

The Divisional Commissioner further underlined that cultural activities are deeply linked with history, identity, and shared values, and commended the University of Jammu for promoting these dimensions through innovative and creative approaches. He remarked that innovation and creativity form a core ethos of the university, reflected in the enthusiastic participation and quality of performances witnessed during the festival. He expressed confidence that such initiatives help students explore their potential while strengthening cultural awareness and confidence.

Wishing success to the students who will represent the university at the forthcoming North Zone competitions, he encouraged them to carry forward the message of a progressive, culturally rich, and resilient Jammu and Kashmir. He emphasized that the region continues to make meaningful contributions to the Nation's development and urged the participants to reflect this spirit as ambassadors of Jammu and Kashmir on larger platforms. Concluding his address, he thanked the organising committee, faculty members, and all those involved behind the scenes for their dedicated efforts, and wished the students the very best in their future endeavours.

In her Presidential Address, Prof. Neelu Rohmetra, Dean Research Studies lauded the Department of Students Welfare, the Campus Cultural Committee, and the Students' Cultural Council for their dedicated efforts in successfully organising the Interzonal Display Your Talent 2025. She described the festival as a historic platform of the University of Jammu that has gained renewed strength under the revised zonal format envisioned by the Hon'ble Vice Chancellor, Prof. Umesh Rai, enabling cultural activities to reach students in far-flung areas through zonal and interzonal competitions. Congratulating the winners who will represent the university at the North Zone level, she noted that the interzonal event symbolized not just competition, but the culmination of grassroots cultural engagement across different regions of Jammu.

Prof. Rohmetra also encouraged students to view both success and setbacks as essential parts of growth, emphasizing that the true spirit of Display Your Talent lies in nurturing confidence, creativity, and holistic development rather than merely securing prizes. She urged participants to value perseverance, self-belief, and continuous self-improvement, reminding them that every experience contributes to personal and artistic maturity. Expressing gratitude to the Chief Guest for his presence, she also acknowledged the crucial role of technical and support staff, volunteers, and organisers, and conveyed the university's wholehearted appreciation for all those who contributed to the smooth conduct and enduring legacy of the festival.

Presenting the event report at the valedictory ceremony, Prof. Monika Chadha, Chairperson, Campus Cultural Committee highlighted that the Interzonal Display Your Talent 2025 marked the successful culmination of a series of zonal competitions conducted across the five zones of the Jammu region, which laid the foundation for this grand cultural showcase. She informed that the zonal events were hosted by Government College for Women, Parade (Tawi Zone), Government Degree College, Rajouri (Pir Panjal Zone), Kathua Campus of the University of Jammu (Ravi Zone), and the Udhampur Campus (Devika Zone), each witnessing enthusiastic participation and high-quality performances from students of affiliated colleges and university departments. The winners from these zonal rounds advanced to the interzonal stage, transforming the festival into a vibrant celebration of excellence, inclusivity, and healthy competition. She further shared that the interzonal event, inaugurated on 16 December 2025, featured 24 competitions with over 1,500 participants across four days, showcasing a wide range of literary, fine arts, music, theatre, and dance events. Prof. Chadha also lauded the participation of students from Shivaji University, Kolhapur, whose cultural performances under an exchange programme added a special dimension to the festival, and congratulated all participants and winners who will represent the University of Jammu at the forthcoming North Zone competitions.

Earlier in his welcome address, Prof. Prakash Chand Antahal, Dean Students Welfare, formally welcomed Shri Ramesh Kumar, IAS, Divisional Commissioner, Jammu, the Chief Guest of the valedictory function, and expressed gratitude for his presence despite his demanding schedule. He described the concluding ceremony as a special moment for the participating students, particularly the winning teams, who were felicitated during the prize distribution. Prof. Antahal also conveyed the best wishes and encouragement of the Hon'ble Vice Chancellor, Prof. Umesh Rai, who could not attend due to official commitments, and acknowledged his visionary leadership and continued support in strengthening cultural initiatives at the University of Jammu.

Highlighting the evolving format of the Display Your Talent festival, Prof. Antahal noted that the event was organised for the second consecutive year under a revised zonal structure, aligned with the Hon'ble Vice Chancellor's vision of inclusive participation. He explained that affiliated colleges and university departments were grouped into five zones—Ravi, Chenab, Pir Panjal, Devika and Tawi—to ensure wider outreach, particularly to students from remote and hilly areas. He further shared that the new format, along with the Department of Students Welfare's flagship training and outreach programme, has significantly enhanced participation and performance quality across most zones. Reiterating the department's commitment to preserving and promoting the region's rich cultural diversity, he placed on record his appreciation for the dedicated efforts of the DSW staff, volunteers, and student participants in ensuring the successful conduct of the festival.

Earlier, the events of Classical Dance, Creative Choreography and Group Dance were conducted.
