

Dr. Sunit Singh holds M.Sc., Ph. D. degree in Botany from HNB Central University of Uttarakhand. Presently, he is a postdoc fellow of CCRAS-Ministry of AYUSH GOI in the Department of Botany, University of Jammu, JK (India). He is having an experience spanning over 10 years at different levels in teaching and research. Dr. Sunit is author of more than 20 scientific research publications in various national and international reputed journals. He had discovered 02 new species to science, 02 new records for the flora of India, 02 rediscovery of species, 02 new records for the flora of Western Himalaya, 04 new records for the flora of union territory of Jammu and Kashmir and 02 new records for the flora of Uttarakhand. He has participated in 07 national (India) and 01 international conferences (Nepal) for presentation of research papers. He had added many images of plants to the digital repository of POWO (Plants of the world online) managed by Royal Botanic Gardens, Kew (England). He is regular members of several associations and societies of India. Currently he is working on floristic studies of Alpine Flora of Western Himalaya. He has conducted 21 field trips to various areas in Western Himalaya during his studies. He has contributed to Book "Threatened species of Plants and Animals in Jammu & Kashmir", published by J&K forest department, Government of Jammu & Kashmir, India. He is also a regular Contributor to Flowers of India and e-flora of India also. His postdoctoral work is on "Morpho-chemotaxonomic studies on some Threatened Medicinal plants of Western Himalaya and their plausible in-situ conservation by ecological niche modeling".